

You are invited to join well-known artist Bernie Dellario on this instructional workshop taking place during the lavender season in Provence France.

This will be an extraordinary small-group experience staying in a centuries-old villa in the heart of the picturesque Luberon.

This popular instructor has lessons and demos planned, and the small number of students (10 max.) means plenty of quality time and instruction with Bernie. You will be able to paint right from the property. Offsite excursions include Pont Julien, the ancient Roman Bridge, the picturesque stone villages of Lacoste and Bonnieux, Provençal markets including the Apt market (rated in the top 100 in France), and the beloved village of Roussillon, home to the famous ochre mines which color the local buildings. Focus on your art in an immersive and inspiring environment with like-minded friends and instruction that will move you forward in your artistic journey. We offer a portable easel, palette, board, and stool so that you can pack light.

We offer a breakfast buffet that includes local seasonal fruit and other staples in addition to fresh croissant and bread every day. One additional meal each day (either lunch or dinner prepared at home) is also included with nutritious, delicious food, and wine, or beverage of choice.

The cost for the workshop is $3500 per person.. This fee includes lodging (based on double occupancy) the Marseille airport or Avignon train transfer to the villa on the first and last days, 2 meals per day, (breakfast daily plus lunch or dinner), and instruction daily with Bernard Dellario. Space is limited, so sign up soon! Please contact josievosoba@gmail.com to reserve your spot. More details can be found on the website:
